What this unit covers: why value education matters - the need, content, process, and the basic guidelines: happiness, prosperity and their continuity.

Key ideas: Value education teaches what is universally valuable for a human being, not just skills for a job. Every human wants two things: happiness (a state of harmony within) and prosperity (the feeling of having more than enough physical facilities) - continuously. The current crisis comes from chasing facilities while ignoring relationships and understanding. The unit introduces self-exploration as the process: verify proposals on your own right, in your own experience - don't accept them because a book says so, don't reject them without testing. Basic human aspiration = continuous happiness and prosperity; these come from right understanding + right feelings, not from money alone.

Exam pointers: definitions with one example each: value education, happiness, prosperity, self-exploration (with its two steps). "What is the need for value education in the present scenario?" is the standard long answer - answer it with the gap between facilities and fulfilment.
